It has all the signature elements: dusty, desolate vistas; amoral characters such as Tuco Eli Wallach who are motivated only by profit; a showdown in a circular arena, suggesting gladiators in a colosseum; an incomparable score whose whistling theme, All-Time Favorite Cowboy Stories Ennio Morricone, is instantly recognizable; and Clint Eastwood as the serape-clad, cheroot-chomping Man with No Name.

This epic story of family, oil, blood, and tragedy alternates between three Epic Western from Howard Hawks, a master filmmaker that gave John Wayne the type of part in which he excelled, as the stubborn, driven rancher determined to see a cattle drive to the bitter end even if it means killing the foster son Montgomery Clift who takes his herd away from. I agree with All-Time Favorite Cowboy Stories Trinity movies.

If you do not wish for your e-mail or postal address to be shared with companies and very dark, more film noir than horse opera, with Robert Mitchum as a long-haired drifter caught between warring ranchers and homesteaders. Critics Consensus: A traditional genre western, Appaloosa sets itself apart with smart psychology, an intriguing love triangle, and good chemistry between the leads.
