Theologically speaking these symbols are a key to understanding of the Holy Spirit and his actions, and are not mere artistic representations. The fullness of the Godhead is manifested with the Spirit's coming to man, and the Church hymns celebrate this manifestation as the final act of God's self-disclosure and self-donation to the world of His creation. The crowd was so moved when Peter told them of their part in the crucifixion of Jesus that they asked the apostles, "Brothers, what shall we do? Judgment was now coming on the nation as described in verse 20 and they needed to call upon the name of the Lord to be saved. Christians steadfastly believe that whoever calls on the name of Jesus, repents, and believes in him will be saved.
