Congo and other poems / by Vachel Lindsay [electronic text]

Nicholas Vachel Lindsay was an American poet. He is considered a founder of modern singing poetry, as he referred to it, From April to May, , Lindsay undertook another poetry-selling trek, walking from New York City to Hiram, Ohio. During this last trek, Lindsay composed his most famous poem, "The Congo".

In the library it has become, so far as the people are concerned, almost a lost art, and perhaps it can be restored to the people only through a renewal of its appeal to the ear. This specific ISBN edition is currently not available. I frankly find the title poem pretty awful --both racist and silly.
